The slogan "Use Ohio Coal" should commend itself to all consumers in the Buckeye state. The conditions among the miners of Ohio is certainly deplorable and the lot of the Ohio operators is not very much better The preference given West Virginia coal has resulted in a condition that is serious. It addresses itself to the grave consideration of the people of Ohio.

During the year 1914 Ohio was troubled more than any other state in the anion producing bituminous coal by strikes and industrial disturb ances of one kind or another, as well as by the ordinary effect industrial depresion on this industry. As result, the total production of coal in Ohio in 1915 was 18,843,115 short tons, having a value at the mines of $21,250,642. In velw of the fact that practically all the Ohio miners were on strike and the mines idle from Ap ril to July, the production fell off heavily-nearly 50 per cent as com pared with 1913. The number of idle days caused by strikes reached the enormous total of 6,452,762 days in other words, 40,577 men were out o onent for an average of 159 Ohio enjoys the excellent repdays. Ohio enjoys the excellent rep-utation of having less than 4 per cent of her total output shot off the solid or powder-mined. The number of fat-al accidents during the year was 62.
